SOUVENIRS OF THE TERCENTENARY

A commemorative medal has been issued by the Commission. The design, by Henry G. Kreis of Essex, modern in technique, shows a group of the founders of the colony, and on the reverse the transplanted grapevines of the Connecticut seal. The medal may be obtained from the Tercentenary Commission for one dollar.

An issue of 15,000 memorial half dollars, also designed by Mr. Kreis, featuring the historic Charter Oak, has been minted by the Federal Government. These coins may be obtained from the Hartford National Bank and Trust Company and other banks in the state for one dollar, plus postage when ordered by mail.

A special Tercentenary commemorative United States postage stamp will go on sale at the Hartford Post Office on April 26, and at other post offices throughout the state on the following day. The stamp shows the Charter Oak, is a rich lilac in color, and is the first commemorative of 1935.

Dinner service plates, in four designs and done in two color combinations, black and white and red and white, may be ordered through the Commission, at one dollar a plate or ten dollars a dozen. The central designs, each rimmed by grapes and foliage entwining the names of colonial towns, show four historic buildings of Connecticut: the Old State House at Hartford, designed by Bullfinch; the second State House at New Haven, which was modeled after the Parthenon; the early Congregational church standing on Litchfield Common; and the former Wyllys Mansion of Hartford, with the Charter Oak in the foreground.

An Architectural Guide for Connecticut, dealing with the domestic, civic, and ecclesiastical building landmarks of the state, has been prepared by J. Frederick Kelly of New Haven. It is being published by the Yale University Press for the Commission and will sell for fifty cents.

The Yale University Press has published for the Commission and has for sale more than 30 pamphlets concerned with phases of Connecticut life and history. These sell for twenty-five cents apiece, except double- or triple-size numbers, which are fifty and seventy-five cents, respectively, as listed on page 22.

Automobile markers, calling attention to the Tercentenary, attachable above or below registration plates, are on sale at twenty-five cents a pair at all offices of the Connecticut Department of Motor Vehicles.

An historical map and guide is being prepared to be issued as a Tercentenary souvenir.

Attractive Souvenir post cards with illustrations of Connecticut Scenes will be available.
